From the Editors

Joseph and Maria Shaw are retiring from the University of Toronto, and the university is apparently not planning to replace them. Current students have mounted a campaign to preserve the Aegean Bronze Age Studies program at the University of Toronto. All who are interested are encouraged to write hardcopy letters to the appropriate university officials. The students have created a web site to monitor the situation; it is regularly updated and has the addresses of the university officials. The web site can be found at: <http://www.chass.utoronto.ca/~schlesin/abaa.html>. All help in this campaign is highly appreciated.

COMMUNICATIONS

From the Assistant Editors

With this issue, Eric H. Cline steps down as the Senior Editor of NESTOR. We thank him for his four-year tenure in this capacity, and we wish him well at his new position in the Classics Department at George Washington University in Washington, D.C. As of the September issue, Carol Hershenson assumes the position vacated by Eric. She will also be assuming responsibility for maintaining the International Directory of Aegean Prehistorians, so all questions concerning both NESTOR and IDAP should be directed to her from now on.

From the Editors

We end our spring publication period following this issue and close up shop for the next three months. The next issue to appear will be in September 2000. We also bid farewell to Jeff Kramer, who has served long beyond the required call of duty, for which we are all most grateful.

Archaeological News in Brief

Gisela Walberg and Michael Baumann report from the excavations on the Lower Terraces at Midea the find of a partially preserved Tan Ware bowl which is clearly an import from western Anatolia, most likely from Troy. The bowl, which has a characteristic rim shape and surface treatment was found in stratum 3, a LH IIIC floor layer, west of the megaron-complex and just below the line of the northern megaron wall. A few fragments of Gray Ware from Western Anatolia have also been identified by Baumann among the finds from the 1994-1997 excavations in the same area at Midea.

COMMUNICATIONS

From the Editors

It gives us great pleasure to dedicate this last volume of Nestor in the second millennium A.D. to Emmett L. Bennett, Jr., on the occasion of his receipt of the Gold Medal for Distinguished Lifetime Achievement from the Archaeological Institute of America. The award will be presented at the annual meetings 3-6 January 2001 in San Diego. The AIA gives out one such award yearly for work in archaeology. Among his many contributions to the study of Aegean prehistory, Dr. Bennett founded this publication in February 1957 as the Mycenaean Bibliography, renaming it Nestor in October 1958, and publishing it personally until January 1978. The staff of Nestor joins the AIA in thanking Dr. Bennett and in saluting him.

An archive is available from the same page.

EuropeanArchaeology is a moderated list intended for the scholarly discussion of European prehistoric and historic archaeology. The time period can range from the Early Palaeolithic through the 1800s. The geographic focus is Europe, which is broadly defined as extending from Spain, Portugal, and Ireland in the West to the Urals in the East. Book and article announcements, are welcome, as are field school announcements, and discussions of new discoveries or theories and interpretations. The list is accessible at:

Lucia Nixon, Simon Price, Jennifer Moody, Oliver Rackham, Sophie Clarke and Sarah Porter announce that the new Sphakia Survey website is now online at:

<http://sphakia.classics.ox.ac.uk/>

or

<http://www.oucs.ox.ac.uk/hcdt/Sphakia/launch/launch.html>

The Sphakia Survey is an interdisciplinary archaeological project studying life in that remote and rugged part of Crete, from the time that people arrived in the area (by ca. 3000 BC), until the end of Ottoman rule in AD 1900. It involves the use of environmental, archaeological, documentary, and local information collected over a 13-year period. This is the first version of the web site and the Sphakia Survey researchers would warmly welcome the help of users in improving the site. Please contact them if you would be willing to fill in a short questionnaire (hcdt@oucs.ox.ac.uk), or see the feedback form on the web site.

The Linear A texts are available in phonetic transcription on-line at:

<http://www.duke.edu/web/jyounger/LinearA>

In addition to Linear A texts from Haghia Triada and elsewhere, there is an introduction to Linear A.

Issue 9 of Internet Archaeology is available at:

<http://intarch.ac.uk/journal/issue9/index.html>

This issue contains seven articles on the theme of Production and Distribution of Pottery in the Eastern Mediterranean edited by Dr. Louise Joyner from the British Museum. Of interest to Nestor readers is:

On 13-18 September 2001 an international conference, World Islands in Prehistory 2001, will be held on the Spanish Balearic Island of Mallorca. The subjects of papers will include any prehistoric investigation dealing with early insular ecology (flora, fauna), environment (geology, geography, climate, resources), early human cultures (society, economics, and religion, as well as technology). A few papers dealing with important themes, pertinent to present world conditions and research will also be accepted, to give balance, general continuity and interest to the whole. Conference papers are now being solicited along with resumes; resúmenes can be up to 4000 words. Further details and registrations forms will be provided on request via e-mail, fax, or post from W. Waldren, Chairman, e-mail: lina0142@excite.com or damarc@redestb.es or william.waldren@linacre.ox.ac.uk or william.waldren@prm.ox.ac.uk. On-going, updated information can be obtained at: www.briegull.com/waldren/conf or www.scn.org/earth/earthsea/waldren.

Obituaries:

The staff of Nestor are saddened to record the deaths of three distinguished scholars of Aegean prehistory during the past year: Luigi Bernabò Brea, excavator of Poliochni on Lesbos and conducted extensive research in Italy and the central Mediterranean islands; William Andrew McDonald, co-director of the University of Minnesota Messenia Expedition and excavator of Nichoria in Messenia; and Mervyn R. Popham, excavator of the Unexplored Mansion at Knossos and of Lefkandi in Euboea. Their insights and energy will be missed by everyone.
