COMMUNICATIONS

Topographic and Chronological Scope of Nestor

The start of the new millennium seems an opportune time to restate the topographic and chronological scope of Nestor. Our primary geographic nexus remains the Aegean, including all of Greece, Albania, the southern coast of Bulgaria, the western and southern coasts of Turkey, and Cyprus. Nestor includes publications concerning the central and western Mediterranean, southeastern Europe, the eastern Mediterranean, western Asia, and other regions of archaeological research, if the specific bibliographic items contain Aegean artifacts, imitations, or influences, or make reference to Aegean comparanda.

Nestor's chronological range continues to be the prehistoric period in the regions covered, from the Palaeolithic through the end of the Geometric period. As with publications concerning geographic regions outside our direct range, so with bibliography regarding chronological periods beyond our limits, Nestor includes items concerned with other periods if they discuss comparisons or questions of continuity involving the prehistoric period.

Within the topographic and chronological scope defined above Nestor attempts to list all publications on any aspect of human activity. These include, but are not limited to human interactions with the environment, material culture, social, political, and economic activities, structures, and organizations, and languages and systems of recording, writing, and accounting. Related topics such as Philistine culture within our chronological limits, 'Archaeologica Homeric', the Classical Cypriot syllabary, and Indo-European linguistics especially concerning the development of Greek continue to be covered as previously.

In a similar vein publications concerning scientific analysis, archaeological methodology and theory, and ethnoarchaeology are included in Nestor if they cite comparisons, data, or examples from Aegean prehistory. The editorial staff wishes to serve Nestor readers as fully and conveniently as possible, and we hope that this editorial restatement will further that objective.

From the Editors

The editors of Nestor wish to announce some changes in content and format beginning in this issue. Nestor is adding a section to the COMMUNICATIONS under the heading of Aegean News in Brief. We thus invite contributors to publish briefly (10 lines or less) new discoveries and theories with the greatest interpretive significance for Aegean prehistory. There is currently no print forum for such succinct and prompt dissemination of new evidence and ideas in the ancient world; it is our hope that Nestor can fill that need for Aegean prehistory.

Nestor is also instituting a new section of the COMMUNICATIONS entitled Calls for Papers. We invite organizers to submit announcements of conferences and symposia which may be of interest to Nestor's readers in advance of the closing dates for application. This section is intended to permit Nestor's readers to identify opportunities for the dissemination and exchange of ideas.

Readers will note some other changes in format with this issue. Nestor returns to the practice of publishing the ISBN numbers of listed volumes, for the convenience of those readers who wish to obtain a volume listed by Nestor either from its publisher or from an Inter-Library Loan service. Nestor extends to titles in English its practice in other languages of capitalizing in accordance with the example of the source. Finally, Nestor has increased its range of accents and other diacritical marks, permitting a more accurate recording of authors' names and bibliographic titles in a wider range of languages.

Calls for Papers

The UK chapter has announced a call for participation in the Sixth Computer Applications and Quantitative Methods in Archaeology Meeting to be held at Bristol University on 24-25 February 2001. The organizers particularly wish to encourage attendance by research students, archaeologists in units, agencies and planning authorities, and those who have not previously participated in CAA conferences. All topics in the field are encouraged. Title and abstract (maximum 500 words) should be submitted in plain text to the organizers: Alan Chalmers and Majid Mirmehdi, University of Bristol, Department of Computer Science, Merchant Venturers Building, Woodland Road, Bristol BS8 1UB; telephone: +44 (0)117 954 5150; fax: +44 (0)117 954 5208; e-mail: alan@cs.bris.ac.uk and majid@cs.ac.bris.ac.uk. Further information is available at: www.cs.bris.ac.uk/Events/CAAUK2001/

On 3-7 September 2001 the Politecnico di Milano, Italy will host the International Cultural Heritage Informatics Meeting with the theme "Cultural Heritage and Technologies in the Third Millennium" (ichim2001), exploring cultural heritage institutions whose new forms are being determined by the combined impact of innovative technologies and changing social expectations of their role. Papers and tutorials are invited that address technical, cultural, social, organizational, or economic issues, especially in the following areas:

- Technology-based communication of cultural heritage
- Changing organizational paradigms, enabled or enhanced by technology
- Innovative technology for cultural heritage documentation
- Applications of innovative technology within cultural heritage organizations
- Technology enabled services for cultural heritage

Full or Short Papers, and Tutorial outlines must be received by 2 February 2001. Proceedings of ichim2001 will be published, as have previous meetings (available at www.archimuse.com/publishing/museums.html). Proposal submission forms and further information about the conference is available at www.ichim01.polimi.it/ (Italy) or www.archimuse.com/ichim2001 (US). The Conference Co-Chairs are Paolo Paolini and Jennifer Trant, Archives & Museum Informatics, 2008 Murray Ave, Suite D, Pittsburgh, PA 15217.

In July 2002 the Second International Conference: Hierarchy and Power in the History of Civilizations will be held in Saint Petersburg, Russia, hosted by the Institute of Oriental Studies of the Russian Academy of Sciences (St. Petersburg Branch) in cooperation with the Center for Civilizational and Regional Studies of the Russian Academy of Sciences and the Institute of Cultural Anthropology of the Russian State University for the Humanities (Moscow). The following issues will be discussed:

- Civilizational and evolutionary (including formation) models of socio-political development
- Interaction of the socio-political and cultural-mental groups of factors in the processes of social evolution
- Cultural and socio-biological foundations and factors of dominance in human societies
- Socio-political evolution of the East: models and tendencies
- Evolutionary position of the state among the forms of socio-political organization
- Democratic and non-democratic forms of socio-political organization at different levels of cultural complexity
- Political center and regions: interrelations within the frameworks of different models of socio-political organization
- Schools and trends in the study of the hierarchy and power

Panel proposals (maximum 500 words) must be received by 1 September 2001; Paper abstracts (maximum 300 words) must be received by 1 December 2001. Please include full name, title, institutional affiliation, full postal and e-mail addresses, and fax number. Correspondence should be sent to Dr. Serguei A. Frantsouzoff, Institute of Oriental Studies (St. Petersburg Branch) 18 Dvortsovaya nab., 191186 St. Petersburg, Russia. telephone: +7-812-315-84-90; fax: +7-812-312-14-65; e-mail: invost@mail.convey.ru.

Future Lectures and Conferences

On 28 February 2001 the British School in Athens will host a public lecture at the Institute of Classical Studies in London by K. Demakopoulou on "The Mycenaean acropolis of Medea: a third palatial centre in the Argolid?".

The following Mycenaean Seminar lectures have been announced by the Institute of Classical Studies in London for the Spring of 2001:

On 30-31 May 2001 The Center for Mediterranean Civilizations and its Director, Professor Irad Malkin will host an International Workshop Mediterranean Paradigms and the Study of Antiquity at Tel Aviv University. The Workshop will consider how useful the concept of the Mediterranean is to the study of antiquity. Speakers will include C. Ampolo, L. Foxhall, I. Malkin, I. Morris, N. Purcell, Z. Rubin, B. Shaw, and G. Woolf. There will be at least ten fellowships for graduate students and post-doctoral candidates ($900 for people coming from Europe and $1250 for those coming from the American continent or a comparable distance). Application is by curriculum vitae and a letter describing the applicant's main field of interest; One letter of recommendation should be sent directly to Professor Irad Malkin, The Center for Mediterranean Civilizations, Tel Aviv University, 69978 Tel Aviv, Israel; telephone: 972-3-6405187; fax: 972-3-6405076.. Application can be made by e-mail to mediter@post.tau.ac.il Fully furnished apartments in central Tel Aviv will be available for a cost of $70 a night (minimum residency: six nights; double occupancy possible). Help with arrangements for hotel accommodation is also available. The organizers point out that the Israeli Society for the Promotion of Classical Studies will hold its annual, international meeting on June 4-5, 2001 at Bar Ilan University, Ramat Gan (<http://research.haifa.ac.il/~mluz/ispcs/kenesmenu.html>).

Past Lectures and Conferences

On 15-18 November 2000 the Universitat de València hosted the International Symposium on Neolithic landscapes of the Mediterranean. Topics included palaeoanthropology, the particular characteristics of human landscapes during the Neolithic period, and regional studies on the processes of neolithization in the Mediterranean region. The co-ordinators were Ernestina Badal, Joan Bernabeu, and Bernat Martí at Departament de Prehistòria i Arqueologia, Facultat de Geografia i Història, Universitat de València, Av. Blasco Ibáñez, 28, 46010-Valencia; telephone: 34-963864242; fax: 34-963864249; e-mail: paisaje@uv.es Further information is available at www.entornsl.com/congreso/paisaje.htm Papers of special interest to Nestor readers included:

- M. Ntinou, "Vegetation and human communities in prehistoric Greece"
 P. Halstead, "Agropastoral land use and landscape in later prehistoric Greece"

On 16 January, 2001 the Department of Bible, Ancient Near Eastern Studies, and Archaeology of Ben Gurion University of the Negev in Beer Sheva, together with The Canada Chair of Ancient Near Eastern Archaeology held a mini-conference on The Philistines and Sea Peoples In Historical and Archaeological Sources in honor of the appearance of The Sea People and Their World: A Reassessment, edited by Professor Eliezer Oren (§010042). Papers of interest to Nestor readers included:

- E. Oren, "The Origin of the Sea Peoples and Their Culture. The State of Scholarship"
 T. Dothan, "Study of the Sea Peoples in Light of New Excavations"

COMMUNICATIONS

From the Editors

The editors of Nestor invite the submission of bibliographic items with publication dates prior to 1995 for inclusion in Addenda, an occasional section for older publications which have not previously been listed. References can be sent via e-mail; in the interests of accuracy, however, the editors of Nestor confirm all electronic references with hard copy. Photocopies, including title page, all publication information, table of contents, and first and last pages of each relevant article, can be sent directly to the postal address in the masthead. The staff of Nestor is always grateful for help in keeping our listings as complete and accurate as possible.

Calls for Papers

On 14-17 November 2001 CHACMOOL 2001 - An Odyssey Of Space will be hosted by the Department of Archaeology, University of Calgary, on the theme of space and how it is perceived from the archaeological record. A broad range of topics will be examined, including:

How Space is Defined - boundaries, enclosures

How Space is Used - traditional ways in which space is divided in households and communities, as well as working and living space

Public Space - plazas, courtyards, domestic vs. public, gender utilization

Landscapes - systems such as fields, irrigation

Archaeoastronomy – eg. The Nazca Lines

The Cosmos - How did ancient peoples map out space?

Mapping Space - remote sensing, GIS, and GPS

Ideological Concepts of Space

Sacred Space - perception of space, creation myths

Ancient Maritime Utilization of Space - underwater archaeology

The Temporalization of Space - the relationship between space and time

Geoarchaeological Investigations

Spatial Analysis - history and theory, trends, future

Ethnographic Studies of Space

Spatial Data Management within CRM

Spatial Relationships in Mortuary Settings

Sample session abstracts include:

Viewscapes

Tales from the Crypt: Spatial Relationships in Mortuary Settings

Spatial Perspectives on High-Density Settlement and Urban Living

Ancient Ritual Performances: Methodologies for Reconstruction

Session topics are due 15 February 2001; abstracts are due 15 March 2001. Late submissions will be accepted. Proposals can be sent to Department of Archaeology, University of Calgary, 2500 University Dr., NW Calgary, Alberta, Canada T2N 1N4; e-mail: chacmool@ucalgary.ca; fax: (403) 282-9567 or electronic forms may be submitted at http://www.ucalgary.ca/UofC/faculties/SS/ARKY/Dept_Files/elecform.html. Further information is available at http://www.ucalgary.ca/UofC/faculties/SS/ARKY/Dept_Files/chacmool.html and http://www.ucalgary.ca/UofC/faculties/SS/ARKY/Dept_Files/session_abstracts.html. Proceedings will be published; guidelines for submission of papers are available at: http://www.ucalgary.ca/UofC/faculties/SS/ARKY/Dept_Files/guidelines.htm

On 14-17 November 2001 the American Schools of Oriental Research (ASOR) Annual Meetings will be held at the Omni Interlocken Resort, 500 Interlocken Blvd., Broomfield, CO 80021. Submissions by chairs of newly proposed Sections to the Program Committee chair are due 1 March 2001; submissions by participants of presentation proposals to Section Chairs are due 1 April 2001; submissions by section chairs of Program Summaries to the ASOR office are due 1 May 2001; applications for Lindstrom Student Service Scholarships and Dorot Foundation Travel Scholarships are due 15 September 2001; housing registration is due 15 October 2001; and the deadline for pre-registration for the Annual Meeting, for pre-registration refunds, and for membership in ASOR to qualify for participation in the Annual Meeting is 9 November 2001. Abstract and participation forms, pre-registration forms, a program guide, and information for section chairs are available at <http://www.asor.org>. A secure electronic registration form for the 2001 ASOR Annual Meeting is available at <https://www.bu.edu/asor/preregsecure2.html>

A call for papers to the ASOR Annual Meetings 2001 has been issued for two sessions devoted to Theoretical and Anthropological Approaches to Near Eastern Archaeology. Submissions are sought on a wide variety of approaches to the study of the past; in 2001 abstracts are particularly solicited concerning cultural and national identity in the past and the present, in papers concerning the politics of the past, intercultural connections, core-periphery relationships, peer-polity interaction, world systems theory, and the emergence of complex societies. Abstracts (maximum 250 words) for papers (20-25 minutes) should be e-mailed to both co-chairs, Louise Hitchcock (e-mail: lhitchco@ucla.edu; (until 15 June) post: Albright Institute of Archaeological Research, P.O. Box 19096, Jerusalem 91 190, Israel; fax: 972-2626-4424; (after 15 June) post: 1309 Palisades Dr. Pacific Palisades, CA 90272-2153; telephone: (310) 454-5098) and Robert D. Miller II (e-mail: romiller@msmary.edu; post: Mount St. Mary's Seminary, Emmitsburg, MD 21727-7797; telephone: (301) 447-5781; fax: (301) 447-5636). The deadline for submission of paper proposals to the section co-chairs is 1 April 2001.

Future Lectures and Conferences

On 23-25 February 2001 the Faculty of Arts, School of Archaeology, Classics, and Oriental Studies at the University of Liverpool will host the Fifth Annual Meeting of Post-Graduate Researchers at the Symposium on Mediterranean Archaeology (SOMA 2001). Announcement

The Trustees of the Michael Ventris Memorial Fund offer the award of the Michael Ventris Memorial Award for Mycenaean Studies 2001 in an amount up to £1500 to postgraduate students or young scholars who have obtained a doctorate within the past eight years in the field of Mycenaean civilisation or kindred subjects. Typewritten application should be sent not later than 23 February 2001 to The Secretary, Institute of Classical Studies, Senate House, Malet Street, London WC1E 7HU, England; e-mail: mpacker@sas.ac.uk; fax: 020 8762 8722. The successful candidate will be required to submit a written report to the Advisory Committee on the work supported by the Award, which should be a specific project which may be part of a continuing programme of research. He or she may be invited to make a public presentation of the results at the Institute of Classical Studies. Application, which is open to candidates from all countries, should include age, qualifications, academic record, an outline of the proposed project, and the names and addresses of two referees, who should at the same time be asked to write independently in support of the application.

Obituary

The editors of Nestor are saddened to record the death of Emily Townsend Vermeule, professor for three decades at Harvard University. Professor Vermeule was a scholar of wide interests in Bronze Age Greece and Homeric studies and excavator of Toumba tou Skourou on Cyprus. The family has requested that no letters, phone calls, or flowers be sent.

Call for Papers

On 17-19 January 2002 the Open University and the University of Birmingham will host a conference at Milton Keynes, UK on The Clothed Body in the Ancient World. Ancient historians, costume historians, textile experts, archaeologists, fashion theorists, art historians, and anthropologists are invited to submit papers on the clothed body; the organizers will especially welcome papers in the following areas:

- Methodology of dress history
- Dress as display
- Dress and eroticism
- Dress and modesty
- Dress and social control
- Dress and ritual
- Dress and identity
- Dress and the economy
- Dress and art
- Reception of ancient dress (from the Middle Ages to the twentieth century)
- Specific dress items and accessories: wigs, cosmetics, footwear.

Paper abstracts (maximum 300 words, in duplicate) are due 31 July 2001; further information is available from Dr. Lloyd Llewellyn-Jones, Dept. Classical Studies, Arts Faculty, The Open University, Walton Hall, Milton Keynes, UK. MK6 7AA; e-mail: l.j.llewellyn-jones@open.ac.uk or from Dr. Mary Harlow, Centre for Byzantine, Ottoman and Modern Greek Studies, University of Birmingham, Edgbaston, Birmingham UK B15 2TT; e-mail: m.e.harlow@bham.ac.uk.

Future Conference

On 2-5 April 2001 The International Symposium Lebensraum Troia zwischen Erdgeschichte und Kultur (Landscape Troia between Earth History and Culture) will be held at the Heidelberger Akademie der Wissenschaften, Karlstr. 4, 69117 Heidelberg, jointly hosted by the Heidelberg Academy of Sciences, the Society of Science-based Archaeology Archaeometry, and the Troia Project of the Eberhard-Karls-University of Tübingen. Further information is available from Forschungsstelle Archäometrie der Heidelberger Akademie der Wissenschaften, am Max-Planck-Institut für Kernphysik Postfach 103980, 69029 Heidelberg; telephone: +49-6221-516289; fax: +49-6221-516633; e-mail: g.wagner@mpi-

Assistant Editors: K. Mark Armstrong, Evi Gorogianni, Jeff Kramer, Erin W. Lopp

COMMUNICATIONS

From the Editors

The staff of Nestor are pleased to announce the return of Jeff Kramer as assistant editor. His knowledge and good cheer are always a welcome presence in this office.

This issue of Nestor is entirely ADDENDA, bibliographic items with publication dates earlier than 1995. We list this older bibliography in order that it may be added to the Nestor web-site, improving the completeness of that data base. Many of the items listed in this issue were suggested by Nestor readers, whom we thank; the editorial staff of Nestor always welcome suggestions from readers of bibliography, old or recent, which we should list.

Anatolian-Arch is a new list intended to be a forum for discussion of topics of interest to pre-classical archaeologists and ancient historians of Anatolia (modern Turkey) and related regions. Reports of excavations, reading lists, announcements or reports of conferences or symposia are also welcome. Subscription is activated by sending a blank message to anatolian-arch-subscribe@yahoo.com. Messages can be posted to anatolian-arch@yahoo.com. Subscription is cancelled by sending a blank message to anatolian-arch-subscribe@yahoo.com. The list owner (Riza Tuncel) can be contacted at anatolian-arch-owner@yahoo.com or rtuncel@hacettepe.edu.tr. Subscription and other information is available at <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/anatolian-arch>.

Julie Hruby of the Department of Classics, University of Cincinnati announces the revival of the daktylos list, dedicated to the study of fingerprints in archaeological, anthropological, forensic, and other contexts, on-line at <http://classics.uc.edu/daktylos/>. Those who were on the list previously need to re-subscribe due to a server crash during the summer of 2000.

The web-site of the Izmir Region Excavations and Research Project (IRERP) is accessible at http://www.geocities.com/irerp_tr. IRERP is a joint regional archaeological project of Ankara and Hacettepe Universities, and includes excavations at Panaztepe (Early Bronze Age to the 5th century A.D.), Liman Tepe (Classical Clazomenai, with a prehistoric site inhabited from the Neolithic through the Late Bronze Age with well-preserved Early Bronze Age), and Bakla Tepe (joint rescue project of IRERP and the Izmir Museum in advance of rising dam waters: Late Chalcolithic into Early Bronze Age I with a Late Bronze Age tomb). The program and some abstracts from the 1997 symposium on "The Aegean in the Neolithic, Chalcolithic, and Early Bronze Age" are also posted at the IRERP web-site; publication of proceedings from the symposium is in progress.

Ioannis Georganas of the Department of Archaeology, University of Nottingham announces that the Mediterranean Archaeology Resources web-site is accessible at http://www.geocities.com/i_georganas/main.html. The Mediterranean Archaeology Resources site has links to journals, bibliographies, online resources, search engines, on-line courses, and organizations, schools, and institutes.

Ian Swindale has made available introductory texts and photographs of Minoan Crete at <http://www.uk.digiserve.com/mentor/minoan>. This web-site is intended to provide basic information about all major and some minor archaeological sites of the Bronze Age civilization of Crete, including photographs of some less well known sites, especially geared toward interested non-specialists. The archaeological sites currently include Anemospilia, Armeni, Ayia Photia, Ayia Triada, Chamaizi, Galatas, Gournia, the Jouktas peak sanctuary, Kamilari, Kommos, Malia, Makriyalos, Mochlos, Myrtos-Pyrgos, Myrtos-Fournou Korifi, Nirou Khani, Palikastro, Petras, Phaistos, Phourni, Phylaki, Sklavokampos, Trypiti, Tylisos, Vasiliki, Vathypetro, Yerokambos, Zakros, and Zominthos.

Calls for Papers

On 19 May 2001, the University of Liverpool, School of Archaeology, Classics, and Oriental Studies will host the Liverpool Interdisciplinary Symposium on Antiquity (LISA 2001) on the theme House, Settlement, Landscape. LISA is a symposium offering graduate researchers the opportunity to present and discuss their views with their colleagues in an informal setting. The deadline for abstracts (maximum 200 words) for papers (20 minutes) or posters is 1 May 2001. The proceedings of the symposium will be published. Further information is available at http://www.liv.ac.uk/Archaeology_Classics/LISA/index.htm or from LISA 2001, School of Archaeology, Classics, and Oriental Studies, The University of Liverpool, 14 Abercromby Square, L69 3BX Liverpool; e-mail: dcaoum@liv.ac.uk

Future Conference

On 17-19 May 2001, an international colloquium entitled Le Néolithique de Chypre will be held at the Fondation Culturelle de la Banque de Chypre, Phaneromenis 86-90, Nicosie, announced by the Department of Antiquities, Cyprus and the French School of Archaeology in Athens. The colloquium will include an excursion to the sites of Nisia-Paralimni, Khirokitia, and Kalavassos-Tenta. The contact address is Odile Le Brun at lebrun.daune@wanadoo.fr. Papers of interest to Nestor readers will include:

J. Guilaine, "Parekklisha-Shillourokambos: périodisation et aménagements domestiques"

Obituaries

The editors of Nestor are saddened to record the deaths of Professors N.G.L. Hammond and Cyrus H. Gordon. In addition to his extensive publications on Greek history, Professor Hammond discussed the tumulus burials of Greece and the southern Balkans and the prehistory of Epirus. Professor Gordon's researches in Ugarit and the Levant led him to an interest in the scripts and languages of Minoan Crete and the prehistoric Aegean.

Aegean News in Brief

Paul Halstead and Valasia Isaakidou are studying animal bones rediscovered by Sharon Stocker and Jack L. Davis during the reorganization of material in the Archaeological Museum of Hora from Blegen's excavations at the Palace of Nestor in Pylos. Groups of bones from various parts of the palace are consistent with burnt animal sacrifices as described in Homer (eg. Odyssey Γ447-463) and known from Archaic-Classical Greece. These bones bear cut marks indicating dismemberment and filleting of the meat prior to burning, had apparently not been broken for the extraction of marrow, and were drawn from a restricted range of body parts (lower jaw, upper forelimb, and thigh) and of species (cattle with a few red deer). In contrast, the much larger quantities of unburnt bones from other areas of excavation had frequently been broken open for marrow extraction and include the full range of body parts and a range of domestic animals, with remains of cattle far less abundant than those of sheep or pig. The storeroom reorganization, directed by Sharon Stocker, and the study of the animal bones are conducted under the auspices of the Pylos Regional Archaeological Project (PRAP) and funded by grants from the Institute for Aegean Prehistory and by the Department of Classics, University of Cincinnati.

COMMUNICATIONS

From the Editors

The editors of Nestor wish readers a productive and enjoyable summer. We invite you again to contribute short (20-line maximum) summaries of your most significant discoveries and conclusions for the Aegean News in Brief section of COMMUNICATIONS for our September issue. Readers are reminded that Nestor is not published in June, July, or August; we hope to see you during our own research activities.

Electronic News and Notices

The Ancient Cyprus discussion list at <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ancientcyprus> is intended to stimulate discussion and to disseminate knowledge about the archaeology and history of Cyprus from earliest times to 1900 AD. It is open to archaeologists, historians, and interested members of the public. Discussion papers are welcomed as are bulletins on current excavations and research, practical advice on support for research, and reading lists.

The Ancient Cyprus discussion list is also accessible through The Ancient Cyprus Web Project at <http://www.ancientcyprus.ac.uk/>, a website under construction which plans to include bibliographies, information on sources of funding, scholar and project contact details, bulletins on excavations and projects, excavation reports, and introductory essays on major archaeological topics. The coordinator is Freya Horsfield; e-mail: co-ordinator@ancientcyprus.ac.uk. The Ancient Cyprus Web Project is affiliated with the Council for British Research in the Levant.

The Laboratory of Geophysical – Satellite, Remote Sensing, and Archaeo-environment of the Institute for Mediterranean Studies (Foundation of Research and Technology, Hellas - FORTH) has created a Digital Archaeological Map of Lasithi District in eastern Crete. The map is available directly at <http://www1.ims.forth.gr/maps/website/imsLasithi2001> or through the web-site of the Laboratory at <http://www1.ims.forth.gr/ArchGeolab/ArchLasithi/html-end/html-map-page1.htm>. The website operates in a GIS environment that integrates topographic, geological and landuse maps, SPOT and Landsat images. More than 900 sites have been registered in the map; approximately two hundred of them have been accurately mapped with GPS units. The website is accompanied by an archaeological database, including bibliography and photographs, which can operate independently of the GIS-based map. The database can be searched and reports can be printed out for all registered sites. Data for new entries can also be contributed. Feedback is always welcome to improve and enhance the website.

Call for Papers

On 16-18 November 2001, the Universities of Liverpool and Manchester will host a conference on The Fifth Millennium BC in the Near East at the Maritime Museum, Liverpool, sponsored by the British

Institute of Archaeology at Ankara, the British School of Archaeology in Iraq, the Council for British Research in the Levant, and the National Museums and Galleries on Merseyside. Issues relating to the development of society in the later Neolithic and earlier Chalcolithic in the Near East will be explored including contributions covering the fifth millennium and the surrounding periods. The conference structure is thematic rather than regional, although both region and assemblage specific presentations will also be included; suggestions for themes in addition to those listed below are also welcome:

- Built environments
- Centers
- Chiefdoms
- Craft specialization
- Demography
- Economy
- Environments
- Exchange
- Mortuary practices - relations between the living and dead
- Power and hierarchy
- Resource exploitation and landscape
- Ritual
- Symbols of complexity
- Reflections on past and present approaches to the fifth millennium

Contributions may be in the form of papers, posters, or organization of workshops. The closing date for submission of titles is 2 July 2001; abstracts are due 15 September 2001. Offers of contributions or requests for further information can be sent to Douglas Baird, Dept. of Archaeology, Hartley Building, Brownlow St., University of Liverpool, Liverpool L69, or Stuart Campbell, School of Art History and Archaeology, University of Manchester, Oxford Road, Manchester M13 9PL; e-mail: Dbaird@liverpool.ac.uk or stuart.campbell@man.ac.uk.

Future Conference

On 10-13 September 2001, the Department of Classics, University of Edinburgh will host a conference entitled Colours in Antiquity: Towards an Archaeology of Seeing. This interdisciplinary conference will address color and hue in the ancient Mediterranean world, including the Middle East, Egypt, Minoan Crete, Mycenaean and later Greece, and the Roman and Byzantine worlds. Conference organizers Karen Stears and Glenys Davies can be contacted at Colours Conference, Dept of Classics, University of Edinburgh, David Hume Tower, George Square, Edinburgh EH15 1LW, UK; telephone: +44 (0)131 6503580/2; e-mail: colours@ed.ac.uk. Papers of interest to Nestor readers will provisionally include:

- F. Blakolmer, "Colour in the Aegean Bronze Age: From Monochromy to Polychromy"
- A. Brysbaert, "Take it or leave it? Implications and results of destructive versus non-destructive analysis of Bronze Age painted plasters in the Eastern Aegean"
- C. Gillis, "Colour Symbolism in the Aegean Late Bronze Age"
- G. Muskett, "The Artist's Palette in Mycenaean Art"
- M.-L. Nosch, "The colours of wool and textiles in the Linear B inscriptions"

On 3 April 2001, Ch. Doumas delivered a lecture on "Recent Finds from Akrotiri, Thera: A Further Insight into the Prehistoric Aegean World" sponsored by The Alexander S. Onassis Public Benefit Foundation, at the Onassis Cultural Center Olympic Tower, 645 Fifth Avenue, Suite 304, New York, NY 10022.

On 26 April 2001, V. Karageorghis delivered a lecture on "Homeric Cyprus" concerning 'Homeric' conditions in the archaeological record of Cyprus during the 11th - 10th centuries B.C. and during the 8th - 7th centuries B.C. The lecture was illustrated by the discoveries in the 'royal' necropolis of Salamis and considered similar conditions prevailing elsewhere in the Mediterranean especially in the Aegean and Etruria, and the Phoenicians' interconnections in the Mediterranean. This lecture was sponsored by The Alexander S. Onassis Public Benefit Foundation in cooperation with The Consulate General of the Republic of Cyprus, at the Onassis Cultural Center Olympic Tower, 645 Fifth Avenue, Suite 304, New York, NY 10022.

On 18-20 May 2001, the Canadian Archaeological Institute at Athens hosted a colloquium on Ancient Greece at the Turn of the Millennium: Recent Work and Future Perspectives in conjunction with its 25th Annual Open Meeting. Papers of interest to Nestor readers included:

- Z. Bonias and J. Perreault, "Ten years of excavations at ancient Argilos/Dix années de fouille à Argilos"
 D. Keller, L.E. Talalay, and T. Cullen, "Prehistory and the Southern Euboea Exploration Project"

On 14-15 December 2001 an International Workshop will be held at Louvain-la-Neuve, Belgium by the Université Catholique de Louvain, the Université de Liège, the Katholieke Universiteit Leuven and the Université de Paris IV-Sorbonne entitled La Crète aux 100 ‘Palais’? Variétés et Niveaux dans le Paysage Politique Minoen (Crete of the 100 ‘Palaces’? Variety and Levels in the Minoan Political Landscape). This workshop is part of the research project ‘Topography of Power’ whose aim is to combine archaeological data and a variety of scientific techniques, including GIS and petrology, in order to reconstruct the socio-political landscape of Minoan Crete; further information is available at <http://www.fltr.ucl.ac.be/FLTR/ARKE/Arka/accueil/fsr.html>). Excavators of ‘palaces’ or major courtyard buildings will discuss the functional aspects of these central buildings, their place in the social and political landscape of Neopalatial Crete, and their relationships with the surrounding hinterland. Speakers and topics will include:

- L. Platon on Zakros
J. Soles on Gournia

O. Pelon on Malia
 J. Shaw on Kommos
 M. Tsipopoulou on Petras
 V. La Rosa on Phaistos
 C. Macdonald on Knossos
 J. Sakellarakis on Zominthos
 E. Sakellarakis on Archanes
 G. Rethemiotakis on Galatas
 K. Palyvou on trends in palatial architecture

Scholars and students of Minoan Crete are invited to attend the workshop and to take part in the discussion. Workshop attendance is free (apart from a coffee fee) but registration is necessary either by e-mail, mail, or fax. The workshop secretary should also be contacted if lodging arrangements at Louvain-la-Neuve are needed. For further information please contact Jan Driessen at Département d'Archéologie et d'Histoire de l'art, Faculté de Lettres, Université Catholique de Louvain (UCL), Place B. Pascal 1, 1348 Louvain-la-Neuve (Belgium); e-mail: driessen@arke.ucl.ac.be; fax: +32.10.47.48.70.

Obituaries

The editors of Nestor are saddened to report the death of William D.E. Coulson., Professor of Classics at the University of Minnesota and director of the American School of Classical Studies in Athens for a decade. Professor Coulson contributed to the understanding of the Dark Ages in eastern Crete, having co-directed the excavations at Kavousi Kastro with Professors Geraldine C. Gesell and Leslie Preston Day and having participated in the synergaseia excavations at Halasmenos near Monistiraki with Dr. Metaxia Tsipopoulou.

COMMUNICATIONS

From the Editors

The listings from Nestor 27 (2000) are now available at the Nestor web-site at <http://classics.uc.edu/nestor/>. They are also being reformatted as ascii files which will soon be available for download from the University of Cincinnati ftp server accessible through the Nestor web-site. The editors of Nestor gratefully thank Jeff Kramer who formatted the files for the web-site and John Wallrodt who uploaded them.

Electronic News and Notices

LAMILA is a web-based discussion forum for scholars dealing with late Middle Bronze Age and Late Bronze Age research in the Eastern Mediterranean. Research topics include chronology (relative and absolute), all aspects of pottery studies, and terminology/taxonomy, as well as material analysis, faunal and botanical analysis, and metallurgy. LAMILA is accessible through a link on the web-site of The Synchronization of Civilizations in the Eastern Mediterranean in the 2nd Millennium B.C. (SCIEM 2000) at <http://www.nhm-wien.ac.at/sciem2000/index.html>.

The Warburg Insitute has redesigned its web-site which now includes a complete subject index of the Photographic Collection. Listings which include the prehistoric Aegean are available at <http://www.sas.ac.uk/warburg/photos/index/preclassic.htm>.

Calls for Papers

On 2-6 April 2002 the Computer Applications and Quantitative Methods in Archaeology Conference (CAA 2002) will be held in Heraklion, Crete (Greece) on the theme of "The Digital Heritage of Archaeology?" Conference topics will include:

Epistemology and Interdisciplinary Aspects:

Inference and archaeological discourse

Archaeological reconstitution and artifact analysis

Cognitive systems and conceptual modeling: tools for reasoning in archaeology?

Documentation and primary knowledge creation:

Conceptual modeling and data standards for field and object documentation

Digitization and annotation of archaeological archives

Archaeometry

Management of the digital heritage:

GIS as a research resource

Access to archaeological knowledge in museums
 Access to archaeological archives
 Data standards for scientific and educational data exchange on the Internet
 Classification systems and thesauri
 Archaeological information on the Internet - potential and evaluation
 Preservation of digital archaeological data

Secondary knowledge creation tools:

Virtual reality as a tool for presenting and evaluating alternative scientific interpretations
 Virtual reality as a tool for educational and recreational use of archaeological contents
 GIS as a reasoning tool
 Statistics and quantitative methods
 Simulation methods for the creation and testing of archaeological hypotheses

An expression of interest in submitting a 30 or 15 minute paper or a poster should be made as soon as possible; abstracts are due 1 November 2001. Notification of acceptance will be made on 20 December 2001. Further information is available at the web-site <http://www.caa2002.gr>, or by contacting CAA 2002, Institute of Computer Science, Foundation for Research and Technology – Hellas, PO Box 1385, 711 10 Heraklion, Greece; e-mail: caa2002@ics.forth.gr.

On 21-23 November 2002 an International Round Table will be held on the theme of Mythos: La préhistoire égéenne du XIX^e au XXI^e siècle après J.-C. at the École française in Athens, sponsored by the École française d'Athènes, the Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique, and the Université de Paris I. The conference will address fundamental questions concerning the history of archaeological research in the Aegean and neighboring regions including Anatolia, Cyprus, and the Balkans considering archaeological discovery, the reception of archaeological finds and interpretations, and overcoming public and academic stereotypes. Papers may be presented in English, French, or Greek. Application forms should be returned by 31 December 2001; further information is available from Mythos, Protohistoire égéenne - boîte 16, Maison René Ginouvès, 21, allée de l'Université, F – 92023 Nanterre Cedex, France; telephone: 33-(0)1-46-69-25-61 or 46-69-25-65; fax : 33-(0)1-46-69-26-35; e-mail : darcque@mae.u-paris10.fr. The proceedings will be published by the École française d'Athènes as a BCH Supplément.

M. Tsipopoulou and P. Warren have invited short papers for inclusion in a volume stemming from their workshop at the recently concluded 9th International Cretological Congress entitled Social structure and political organization of Late Prepalatial Crete. Papers should discuss the characteristics and the dynamics of the island society in the periods which preceded the emergence of the first palaces (EMIII and MMIA), during which there is now ample evidence for signs of growing socio-political complexity, significant changes in patterns of material culture, new forms of religion and symbolic behavior, and clear indications of narrower spheres of influence. Papers should address questions leading to:

- better understanding of the spatial and chronological patterning of the archaeological and the architectural data sets;
- suggestions for possible models of socio-polical and socio-economic organization during the late Prepalatial period;
- proposals for patterns of symbolic and religious behavior that the emergent elites used to manipulate communal actions.

Paper submissions (6 pages maximum with references in the text, excluding references cited and illustration captions), in Greek, English, French, Italian, or German, are due by 15 January 2002 in both hard copy and on diskette including the paper, references, and captions in Word 97, with all illustrative materials in publication-ready format (2 pages maximum of tables, graphs, plans, or drawings; a map of Crete with all sites and geographical features mentioned in any paper will be supplied by the editors.) Materials should be sent to Dr. Metaxia Tsipopoulou, Voulgaroktonou 68, Athens 114.73, Greece. Peer review including review by Tsipopoulou and Warren, critical specialist commentary, and authors' comments and rebuttals is scheduled to take a total of six weeks leading to circulation by September/October 2002. The volume will include an introductory essay by the organizers and a concluding critical overview essay by a non-Cretan specialist surveying the collection of papers and offering critical comments for future directions of research.

Call for Papers

In March 2003 a four-day conference in Copenhagen, Denmark and Lund, Sweden on Ancient Textiles: Production, Craft and Society is being organized. The conference is intended to include practitioners of modern weaving and crafts, as well as scholars in prehistory, classical archaeology, history, art history, philology, and the natural sciences. The aim is to bring together experts from diverse disciplines working with textiles from different time periods and geographic areas, and from different theoretical orientations such as gender, economic history, craft specialization, and social structure. They may thus compare traditions and enhance the understanding of the production, consumption and importance of ancient textiles as objects, as crafts, and as expressions of social structure. The major themes of the conference will be:

Textiles in Practice

- techniques, technologies and tools
- other cross-disciplinary studies including scientific analyses
- experimental archaeology and practical demonstrations

Textiles in Society

- craftsmen and craftsmanship
- production and its role in society
- written evidence and economic factors

Abstracts (minimum half a page) are due by Dec. 15th, and should be sent with all relevant personal information, type of contribution (participation, paper, poster, demonstration), and the theme and session for which the abstract should be considered. Further information is available from Eva Andersson, Department of Archaeology, Sandg., Lund, Sweden; e-mail: eva.andersson@ark.lu.se, or from Carole Gillis, Department of Classical Studies, Solveg. 2, S-223 62 Lund, Sweden; e-mail: carole.gillis@klass.lu.se.

Future Lectures and Conferences

The following programme of future Southampton Aegean Archaeology Seminars has been announced for Semester One of 2001-2002. All seminars begin at 4.30 pm in the Archaeology Resources Room (Crawford Building). Further information is available from Dr. Yannis Hamilakis, Department of Archaeology, University of Southampton, Highfield, Southampton S017 1BJ, UK; telephone: 23-80594776 or 23-80592247 (department); web-site: <http://www.arch.soton.ac.uk> (department) or <http://www.arch.soton.ac.uk/Prospectus/Staff/Hamilakis.html>; fax: 23-80593032; e-mail: y.hamilakis@soton.ac.uk.

COMMUNICATIONS

From the Editors

The editors of Nestor wish everyone a happy and safe holiday season as this first momentous year of the third millennium comes to a close.

Electronic News and Notices

Kadmos is an informal communication channel for sharing archaeological news and views about Thebes and Boeotia. It aims at facilitating interdisciplinary communication among researchers and students, working on Theban material or are engaged in Boeotian studies in general. At the same time, Kadmos welcomes contributions from a wider audience and encourages public participation in archaeological discourse relating to Boeotia. To subscribe, send a blank email to: Kadmos-subscribe@topica.com.

The Bryn Mawr Classical Review is available at <http://ccat.sas.upenn.edu/bmcr/>. Recent reviews of interest to Nestor readers include:

Call for Papers

The editors of Aegean Archaeology are soliciting submissions of field reports, synthetic studies, theoretical papers, notes, book reviews, and review articles that concern the Aegean world from the Neolithic through the Early Iron Age-Archaic material cultures. Submissions are also welcomed in areas impinging physically, culturally, or theoretically on the Aegean realm and in periods peripheral to the main chronological focus, if their contents are directly and substantially relevant to the focal regions and periods. The editors welcome especially reports presenting the results of any stage of fieldwork for more rapid publication than is possible in most other journals.

Manuscripts should be in English written on Microsoft Word, and may be accompanied by black-and-white illustrations for print publication; beginning next autumn the editors of Aegean Archaeology expect to be able to publish via the internet high quality 35 mm color slides of artifacts and physical contexts at three resolutions (600x400, 1200x800, and 1800x1200 dots per inch) suitable for detailed study and archive purposes (supported by Apollo: An Infrastructure for Teaching the Ancient Mediterranean and Medieval Worlds [<http://apollo.classics.unc.edu>] in the Digital Library Resource of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill). Aegean Archaeology does not restrict the number of either pages or illustrations. All submissions are refereed by at least two specialist readers.

Manuscripts and books for review should be sent to Professor Bogdan Rutkowski and Dr. Krzysztof Nowicki, Institute of Archaeology and Ethnology, Polish Academy of Sciences, Al. Solidarności 105, 00-140 Warszawa, Poland; e-mail: keratas@iaepan.edu.pl; or to Professor Donald C.
