Aegean News in Brief

The Department of Classics at the University of Cincinnati has been given by Emmett Bennett a hand-bound volume entitled Glossary of Pre-1952 Tablets signed M G F V. It is hand written in blue ink, with the notations 'Confidential: OCTOBER 53' and the title 'GLOSSARY OF 1556 LINEAR•B SIGN-GROUPS' on the first inside page.

Preliminary inquiries have not revealed other copies of this document, unlike much of Ventris' work, which was produced in multiple copies and circulated among a mailing list of scholars interested in Linear B; moreover, the notation of ‘Confidential’ in the upper right corner of the first page appears to indicate that this volume is different.

Ventris’ Glossary of Pre-1952 Tablets will be on display at the entrance to the John Miller Burnam Classical Library from 15 February 2004. If any other copies of this document are known, please contact Carol Hershenson, Department of Classics, University of Cincinnati, P.O. Box 210226, Cincinnati, OH 45221-0226, USA; telephone: (513) 556-3095; fax: (513) 556-4366; e-mail: hershenson@classics.uc.edu.

Announcements

Dr. Ioannis Georganas is proposing to launch a new academic journal entitled Studies in Greek Early Iron Age Archaeology and would be interested in hearing from individuals interested in contributing as co-editors, members of the editorial advisory board, or article authors. This journal is intended to provide a forum in which to discuss issues related to the archaeology of the Greek Early Iron Age (ca. 1100-700 BCE), a period crucial for Greek history, although underestimated compared to the Bronze Age and the Classical period, including theoretical and methodological perspectives as well as interpretation of material culture. More information is available from Dr. Ioannis Georganas at igeorganas@netscape.net.

The semi-popular quarterly Near Eastern Archaeology (NEA), published by the American Schools of Oriental Research, is soliciting brief articles for its "Arti-Facts" section. "Arti-Facts" is an ideal venue to highlight recent expeditions and discoveries, museum exhibitions, conference proceedings, and dissertation research. Submissions (1400 words maximum, preferably with two or three high-resolution images) should be composed in an accessible, semi-popular voice. A guide for submissions is available at <http://www.asor.org/pubs/nea/instructions.html>; further information is available from Benjamin Porter, assistant editor of NEA, Department of Anthropology, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA, USA; e-mail: bporter@sas.upenn.edu; web-site: <http://www.sas.upenn.edu/~bporter>.

Calls for Papers

On 31 August 2004 abstracts are due for the Postgraduates in Cypriot Archaeology (POCA 2004) conference, to be held on 19-20 November 2004, hosted by the Archaeology Department, the University of Reading. Further information is available from Linda Hulin at l.hulin@reading.ac.uk or at <http://www.reading.ac.uk/POCA2004/>.

Different theoretical approaches and case studies are welcome. All previous Neolithic Seminar proceedings are available in the periodical Documenta Prehistorica XXI-XXX. Abstracts should be submitted by e-mail to miha.budja@uni-lj.si; further information is available from Dr. Mihael Budja, Department of Archaeology, University of Ljubljana, Askerceva 2, 1000 Ljubljana, Slovenia; or from the website: <http://www.ff.uni-lj.si/arheologija/neolitik/seminars/s11.html>

Calls for Papers

On 15 November 2004 abstracts (ca. 300 words) are due for a conference entitled Seeing the Past: Building knowledge of the past and present through acts of seeing, to be hosted by the Archaeology Center at Stanford University on 5-6 February 2005. Paper presentations will be limited to 5-10 minute 'provocative statements' intended to stimulate discussion; the papers will have been pre-circulated and posted on the conference web-site, and will subsequently be published in Stanford's Archaeology Journal. The first major objective will be to explore how different media present different pasts in the present, including (but not limited to) such topics as GIS and Digital rendering of sites and monuments, visual modeling, the commercialization and packaging of the past, the past through photography or other media, how modern sites are used (i.e. heritage and tourism), and how the past is represented in museums; the second major objective will be to explore how past peoples used visual culture to understand their past and present, including (but not limited to) such topics as temporal and spatial development of settlements and cemeteries, rock art, textual and artistic representations, monumentality, spatial re-use, ritualized architecture, and landscape studies. The conference seeks to enable productive dialogue across a range of disciplines including anthropological sciences, architecture, art and design history, classics, cultural and social anthropology, biology, cultural studies, education, film studies, dramatic and performance studies, fine art, geography, geology and earth sciences, history, literary studies, museum studies, photography, psychology, sociology, and visual culture. Abstracts should be sent to Stanford Archaeological Center, Stanford University, Building 60, Main Quad, Stanford, CA 94305-2170, or by e-mail to seeingthepast@yahoo.com.

Electronic News and Notices

The website entitled Paléomed, at <http://geophiles.net/paleomed/index.htm> has papers and information about the geoarchaeology and paleoclimatology of the Lower Acheron River Valley,

Lake Gramousti, and the Rezina Marsh in Epirus, Lake Kournas on Crete, Delos and Mykonos, and Potamia and Gialias on Cyprus.

The Central Anatolian Neolithic e-Workshop Project (CANeW) has announced a change in their URL from <http://canew.net> to <http://www.canew.org>. Of particular interest to Nestor readers is an expanded C¹⁴ database covering the Aegean region, including Eastern Greece, the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia, Bulgaria, and Western Turkey, with a timespan between 10,000 and 5,500 cal BC. This database is intended to contribute to discussions of neolithization and of the interaction between Anatolia and Southeast Europe. All C¹⁴ tables, both Aegean and the Anatolian, have been expanded to include an extra column providing the cal BC 1 sigma ranges, allowing quick monitoring of the ages and life-spans of the sites.

COMMUNICATIONS

From the Editors

Nestor returns to the practice of sending invoices for subscriptions at the end of the preceding year. We regret to announce that another rise in prices for all categories of subscriptions has been necessitated by continually rising costs. We thank you for paying promptly.

Grants and Fellowships

On 1 February 2005 applications are due for the Helena Wilde Swiny and Stuart Swiny Fellowship and the Anita Cecil O'Donovan Fellowship for 2005-2006. These two grants, each of $750, fund research at the Cyprus American Archaeological Research Institute (CAARI) in Nicosia, Cyprus for graduate students of any nationality conducting research associated with an ongoing field project in Cyprus or relevant to the archaeology of Cyprus. Residence at CAARI is required. Applications must include a project statement, expected schedule of work, budget, curriculum vitae, and two letters of recommendation. Applications should be sent to CAARI at Boston University, 656 Beacon Street, Fifth Floor, Boston, MA 02215; e-mail: caari@bu.edu; fax: 617-353-6575. Further information is available at <http://www.caari.org/>.

Museum Announcements and Special Exhibitions

From 18 January to 19 March 2005 an exhibition entitled Settlement and Sanctuary on Cyprus from the Bronze Age to the Middle Ages: Views from the Columbia University Excavations at Phlamoudhi will be on display at the Miriam and Ira D. Wallach Art Gallery of the Department of Art History and Archaeology at Columbia University. This exhibition will recreate some of the art, archaeology, and history of the Phlamoudhi region, highlighting the settlement at Melissa and the sanctuary at Vounari. Following the exhibition, the finds will be returned to Cyprus. For the program of an associated symposium, see below Future Conferences and Lectures. Further information is available at <http://www.learn.columbia.edu/phlamoudhi/>.

Calls for Papers

On 1 December 2004 abstracts are due for a graduate conference entitled Mediterranean Encounters: People, History and Literature, to be held on 11-12 February 2005, hosted by the Middle East Graduate Association of the University of Cambridge in association with the Center for Research in the Arts, Social Sciences and Humanities. Papers (20 minutes, in English) concerning studies on the exchange and interaction between various peoples within the Mediterranean in the areas of trade, culture, literature and relations of power from the ancient to the modern period are invited, on the following main themes: European and Middle Eastern historiography of the Mediterranean, the Mediterranean as a trade zone, relations of power within the Mediterranean, and the Mediterranean in literature and culture. Abstracts (200 words), together with clear contact details, academic affiliation and title of paper, should be sent to Murat C. Mengüç, Clare Hall, Cambridge CB3 9AL; e-mail: murat_menguc@myway.com.

On 3 December 2004 abstracts are due for the interdisciplinary conference entitled Mediterranean Crossroads Conference (MCC): New trends in the study of the Mediterranean and its history at the onset of the 21st century, to be held on 10-13 May 2005 at the Conference Complex of ATHINAIS in Athens, organized by the Pierides Foundation (Cyprus). Thirty-five presentations (20 minutes each) will examine two broad themes: recent advances in theory and fieldwork which have significantly altered and/or transformed our understanding of key themes in Mediterranean archaeology (including the movement of people and the circulation of objects and ideas in the Mediterranean during prehistory and history, such as cultural diffusion and indigenous development, local identity and global process, actor-network theory, world-systems theory, time-geography, population movement, object biographies, trade and gift exchange, islandscapes vs. landscapes, travel and transport technologies, colonization, and colonies vs. empires) and the wider, interdisciplinary debate concerning the sociopolitical implications of the “postmodern” agenda in the present and the impact of this agenda on the study of the Mediterranean past (with emphasis on contemporary concerns with the cultural heritage of the Mediterranean as a source of social identities and a common heritage of humankind, as well as issues concerning the use (and abuse) of the Mediterranean past and identity in the present, especially heritage management, arts, education, media, the well-being of cultural heritage, tourism, and the politics of the past.) Titles and abstracts (maximum 500 words), as well as scholarly affiliation, address, fax number, and email address should be submitted by e-mail to Sophia Antoniadou (pierides@athinai.com.gr), Anthony Pace (anthony.pace@gov.mt), and Despina Catapoti (pierides1@athinai.com.gr). On 15 December 2004 abstracts for presentations (15 minutes maximum) are due for a graduate conference entitled Land and Sea: Trade and Exchange within the Eastern Mediterranean and the Near East during the Bronze Age, to be held at the University of Pennsylvania on 28-29 April 2005, sponsored by the Center for Ancient Studies at the University of Pennsylvania, the Department of Art History at Temple University, and the Art and Archaeology of the Mediterranean World graduate group at the University of Pennsylvania. The aim of this conference is to further understanding of the processes that linked cultures in the ancient world through a holistic approach to trade and exchange within the Near East and the Eastern Mediterranean basin during the Bronze Age (ca. 3500-1200 B.C.), including such topics as the influence of cross-cultural exchanges on the art and archaeology of the two regions, the nature and extent of the trade networks, the mechanisms of trade and exchange, as well as the effects of international trade on local economies. Abstracts (250 words maximum), as well as the title of the paper, name and institutional affiliation, academic status and contact information (e-mail and telephone number) should be sent to Linda Meiberg, Elliot & Roslyn Jaffe History of Art Building, 3405 Woodland Walk, Philadelphia, PA 19104-6208; telephone: (215) 413-1365; e-mail: meiberg@sas.upenn.edu; web-site: dept.arth.upenn.edu/aamw/landandsea.

On 10 January 2005 preliminary titles are due for an international conference entitled Religious Pluralism in Ancient Anatolia: From the Post-Hittite Era to the Beginning of the Hellenistic Period, to be held on 19-20 May 2005 in Bonn. A broader knowledge of religious diversity in Anatolia during the Iron Age will be sought through texts in Hieroglyphic Luwian, Lycian, Lydian and Carian as well as in Phrygian and Urartean, in conjunction with archaeological and iconographic materials from such language-based areas. Central themes will be religious continuity since the Hittite Empire, religious change to new cults or beliefs, and exchange of religious ideas between different areas of Anatolia before the advance of Hellenism. Further details will be announced in January 2005; further information is available from Prof. Dr. Manfred Hutter, Religionswissenschaftliches Seminar, University of Bonn, Adenauerallee 4-6, D-53113 Bonn, Germany, Fax: ++49-228-737531; e-mail: mhutter@uni-bonn.de.

The editors of Nestor wish our readers the happiest of holidays and all the best in the New Year.

Announcements

Bibliographic citations listed in Nestor 29 and 30 (2002 and 2003) have been added to the searchable on-line Nestor database at <http://classics.uc.edu/nestor/>. We have noted some instances in which reviews of bibliography from the 1970's have wrongly attached themselves to citations from 2001, 2002, and 2003, and we thank web-site users for your patience while we work to correct these problems.

Thomas F. Tartaron has requested information on recent (post ca. 1996) archaeological work concerning the Aegean Bronze Age for an invited article on recent work and current trends in the archaeology of Bronze Age Greece (Greece, Crete, and the Aegean and Ionian islands) for the Journal of Archaeological Research (JAR). This article will update Bennet, John and Michael Galaty 1997. "Ancient Greece: Recent Developments in Aegean Archaeology and Regional Studies." JAR 5:75-120. (§970338), in keeping with JAR's practice of including two articles per issue that survey the current state of archaeological research in a geographical area or a specific research topic. Professor Tartaron asks you to send bibliographic entries for your work and work by others that you consider particularly important, especially those items that convey the accomplishments and the relevance of Aegean Bronze Age research to world archaeology. Offprints, especially of articles from sources that are difficult to obtain, will also be deeply appreciated, and any unpublished information will be gratefully received and appropriately acknowledged. The deadline for a finished manuscript is June 2005; work on the manuscript is already underway. The symposium aspires to define the respective epistemological emphases, stereotypes, biases and divergences of research; as well as the new challenges and possible emerging perspectives in shaping more solid interdisciplinary approaches to prehistoric gender in the Aegean and the Mediterranean. Titles and other communications should be sent to the University of Crete, Department of History and Archaeology, Gallos Campus, 74100 Rethimno; telephone: (28310)-77487 and 77337; fax: (28310)-77467 and 77338; e-mail: kopaka@phl.uoc.gr and gender@social.soc.uoc.gr. The themes of the symposium will be:
