COMMUNICATIONS

An honorary volume is now being organized for the late Jean Deshayes. Due to the great international interest expressed in participating in this publication it has been decided to expand the scope of the enterprise and include as many close collaborators, friends and students of Deshayes as possible. Jean Deshayes was interested and competent in a wide range of topics which accounted for his encompassing views on the archaeology of the Aegean, Levant and Near East. Suggestions for papers in this volume are now being received. The papers should be in-depth studies, not preliminary reports or treatments of minor artifacts. Particularly desirable are papers on subjects which interested Deshayes during his lifetime. Only those who had personal contact with Deshayes and worked with him will be considered. For those wishing to take part in this publication please contact:

The New York Aegean Bronze Age Colloquium has announced the following series of lectures for the late winter and spring:

- January 7, Jeffrey S. Soles, The Prepalatial Cemeteries at Mochlos and Gournia
February 10, Gerald Cadogan, A Progress Report on the Pottery from Pirgos: Regionalism in Middle Minoan Crete
February 17, James Wright, Mycenaean Fortifications: A Theory of Their Origins and Development
March 3, Jack Davis, Pots and Minoans: Explanations of Change in Cycladic Pottery
April 20, Nicolas Coldstream, New Light from Early Greek Knossos

All meetings will take place at 7:45 P.M. at the Institute of Fine Arts, One East 78th Street, New York.

The Greek Ministry of Culture and Science announces the organization of the Eighth International Congress of Greek and Latin Epigraphy to be held in Athens, October 3-9, 1982. Correspondence should be directed to the Secretary, Eighth International Congress of Greek and Latin Epigraphy, Epigraphical Museum, Tositsa 1, Athens 147, Greece.

Some readers of Nestor may be interested to know that Professor Colin Renfrew, Cambridge University, will be visiting Indiana University as Patten Lecturer during the week of March 28-April 3. Further details of his visit will appear in a subsequent issue of Nestor.

FORUM

To the Editors:

The concern of J-Chr. Billigmeier (Nestor 8:6, 1542-3, Sept. 1981) to find a deviant source for $\pi\lambda\alpha\upsilon\sigma\epsilon\varsigma$ is, I think unnecessary. Lejeune and Wathélet are surely right; it is a result of zero-grade. The Greek is not isolated in showing an unexpected vocalism; Slavic, Latin, Albanian, Indo-Iranian, and Armenian ('40') have all instructed us on this, and enriched our grasp of IE stem structure and alternations. I have reconstructed the paradigm of '4' in Ériu 24 (1973):177-8, and in Baltistica 15 (1979):44-5; see also my reconstruction of IE 'dog' in IF, forthcoming.

The Latin forms offer a set of interlocking problems which are mutually illuminating; see my analysis in Studii Clasice 17 (1977):149-51. On the Welsh ordinal see BBCS 26 (1975):309-11.

To the Editors:

I am compiling, in consultation with Professor Lowell Edmunds (Boston College) and Professor Joseph Russo (Haverford College), a list of present and intending scholars with research interests in classics and folklore. There are a number (but an unknown number) of classicists and archaeologists here and abroad whose interest in folklore in antiquity has led them to take some notice of modern folkloric research. The purpose of the list is to identify scholars who work in this area and to promote communication among them. Readers of Nestor who have these interests are invited to send me their name, address, and areas of folkloric interest (e.g. folktales). The completed list will be distributed to those whose names appear on it. Thank you.

Yours, &c.
