Editor: Eric H. Cline

Assistant Editors: Evi Gorogianni, Jeff Kramer, Anja Lanin

COMMUNICATIONS

From the Assistant Editors

With this issue, Eric H. Cline steps down as the Senior Editor of NESTOR. We thank him for his four-year tenure in this capacity, and we wish him well at his new position in the Classics Department at George Washington University in Washington, D.C. As of the September issue, Carol Hershenson assumes the position vacated by Eric. She will also be assuming responsibility for maintaining the International Directory of Aegean Prehistorians, so all questions concerning both NESTOR and IDAP should be directed to her from now on.

From the Editors

We end our spring publication period following this issue and close up shop for the next three months. The next issue to appear will be in September 2000. We also bid farewell to Jeff Kramer, who has served long beyond the required call of duty, for which we are all most grateful.

Electronic News and Notices

The following sites on the World Wide Web will be of immediate interest (note that the addresses must be entered exactly as they appear here):

<http://ucaswww.mcm.uc.edu/classics/nesstor/nesstor.html> – the correct URL for the NESTOR online searchable database, which now contains the bibliographies up through and including 1999 (the address published in the March 2000 issue was slightly incorrect; our apologies!)

<http://www.ajaonline.org> – the new website for the American Journal of Archaeology, which contains links to author guidelines and abbreviations

<http://www.duke.edu/web/ajareviews/> – home page for the Book Reviews of the American Journal of Archaeology

Past Lectures and Conferences

The Department of Archaeology at Göteborg University held an international seminar entitled Symbolic Transmission and Social Transformation: Travels, Trade and Information Exchange in Bronze Age Europe on March 9-10, 2000. Presentations of interest to Nestor readers included:
