COMMUNICATIONS

From the Editors

It gives us great pleasure to dedicate this last volume of Nestor in the second millennium A.D. to Emmett L. Bennett, Jr., on the occasion of his receipt of the Gold Medal for Distinguished Lifetime Achievement from the Archaeological Institute of America. The award will be presented at the annual meetings 3-6 January 2001 in San Diego. The AIA gives out one such award yearly for work in archaeology. Among his many contributions to the study of Aegean prehistory, Dr. Bennett founded this publication in February 1957 as the Mycenaean Bibliography, renaming it Nestor in October 1958, and publishing it personally until January 1978. The staff of Nestor joins the AIA in thanking Dr. Bennett and in saluting him.

Electronic News and Notices:

Several new electronic discussion groups have been formed and there are also new web-sites which may be of interest to Nestor readers. All are active links at:

<http://ucaswww.mcm.uc.edu/classics/nestor/nestor.html>

ArchaeologyTheoryMethod is a moderated discussion list whose purpose is to provide a venue for discussing archaeological and anthropological theory and archaeological methodology. Particularly welcome are discussions of archaeological theory and methodology outside of the Anglo-American traditions. Book and article announcements are also welcome. Instructions on how to join can be found at:

<http://www.egroups.com/group/ArchaeologyTheoryMethod>

An archive is available from the same page.

EuropeanArchaeology is a moderated list intended for the scholarly discussion of European prehistoric and historic archaeology. The time period can range from the Early Palaeolithic through the 1800s. The geographic focus is Europe, which is broadly defined as extending from Spain, Portugal, and Ireland in the West to the Urals in the East. Book and article announcements, are welcome, as are field school announcements, and discussions of new discoveries or theories and interpretations. The list is accessible at:

EuropeanArchaeology@egroups.com

Web registration is via:

<http://www.egroups.com/group/EuropeanArchaeology>

ESRI Archaeology User Interest Group is a group for archaeologists using (or interested in learning about) Geographic Information Systems (GISs), and for GIS professionals involved in archaeological projects. The site is:

<http://www.esri.com/industries/archaeology/index.html>

The discussion forum is:

Lucia Nixon, Simon Price, Jennifer Moody, Oliver Rackham, Sophie Clarke and Sarah Porter announce that the new Sphakia Survey website is now online at:

<http://sphakia.classics.ox.ac.uk/>

or

<http://www.oucs.ox.ac.uk/hcdt/Sphakia/launch/launch.html>

The Sphakia Survey is an interdisciplinary archaeological project studying life in that remote and rugged part of Crete, from the time that people arrived in the area (by ca. 3000 BC), until the end of Ottoman rule in AD 1900. It involves the use of environmental, archaeological, documentary, and local information collected over a 13-year period. This is the first version of the web site and the Sphakia Survey researchers would warmly welcome the help of users in improving the site. Please contact them if you would be willing to fill in a short questionnaire (hcdt@oucs.ox.ac.uk), or see the feedback form on the web site.

The Linear A texts are available in phonetic transcription on-line at:

<http://www.duke.edu/web/jyounger/LinearA>

In addition to Linear A texts from Haghia Triada and elsewhere, there is an introduction to Linear A.

Issue 9 of Internet Archaeology is available at:

<http://intarch.ac.uk/journal/issue9/index.html>

This issue contains seven articles on the theme of Production and Distribution of Pottery in the Eastern Mediterranean edited by Dr. Louise Joyner from the British Museum. Of interest to Nestor readers is:

Knappett, Carl 2000. "The Provenance of Red Lustrous Wheel-made Ware: Cyprus, Syria, or Anatolia?"; Words: 3724 (34K); Images: 23 (3M). This article is also available directly at:

On 13-18 September 2001 an international conference, World Islands in Prehistory 2001, will be held on the Spanish Balearic Island of Mallorca. The subjects of papers will include any prehistoric investigation dealing with early insular ecology (flora, fauna), environment (geology, geography, climate, resources), early human cultures (society, economics, and religion, as well as technology). A few papers dealing with important themes, pertinent to present world conditions and research will also be accepted, to give balance, general continuity and interest to the whole. Conference papers are now being solicited along with resumes; resúmenes can be up to 4000 words. Further details and registrations forms will be provided on request via e-mail, fax, or post from W. Waldren, Chairman, e-mail: lina0142@excite.com or damarc@redestb.es or william.waldren@linacre.ox.ac.uk or william.waldren@prm.ox.ac.uk. On-going, updated information can be obtained at: www.briegull.com/waldren/conf or www.scn.org/earth/earthsea/waldren.

Obituaries:

The staff of Nestor are saddened to record the deaths of three distinguished scholars of Aegean prehistory during the past year: Luigi Bernabò Brea, excavator of Poliochni on Lesbos and conducted extensive research in Italy and the central Mediterranean islands; William Andrew McDonald, co-director of the University of Minnesota Messenia Expedition and excavator of Nichoria in Messenia; and Mervyn R. Popham, excavator of the Unexplored Mansion at Knossos and of Lefkandi in Euboea. Their insights and energy will be missed by everyone.
