Announcements

From October 2002 the National Archaeological Museum in Athens will be closed to the public for more than a year prior to the 2004 Olympic Games. The second floor of the Museum has already been closed to the public since the earthquake in September 1999. The repairs will include restoration of the building from the earthquake, installation of air-conditioning, construction of seven elevators, opening up emergency exits, and construction of a ramp for disabled visitors. The façade of the Neoclassical building will not be altered.

On 31 May 2002 H.R. Highness Prince Henrik of Denmark inaugurated the A.G. Leventis Foundation Gallery of Cypriote Antiquities in the National Museum of Denmark, Copenhagen. The gallery has been endowed by the A.G. Leventis Foundation, which also published an illustrated catalogue of the exhibits (see Nestor 29.3 (March 2002), §020292). The collection is rich in Bronze Age and Iron Age pottery as well as terracottas and stone sculptures. Three previously opened Leventis Galleries in foreign museums are in the British Museum (London), the Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York), and the Fitzwilliam Museum (Cambridge, England); a fifth Leventis Gallery is in preparation in the Royal Ontario Museum (Toronto, Canada). Further information is available from the A.G. Leventis Foundation at leventcy@zenon.logos.cy.net.

From 13 July 2002 through 5 January 2003 the international exhibition Minoans and Mycenaeans, Flavours of their Time: Food and Drink in Bronze Age Greece will be open at the Birmingham Museum and Art Gallery, organized by the Hellenic Ministry of Culture, the Hellenic Cultural Heritage S.A., and the Cultural Olympiad 2001-2004. The Birmingham showing includes much new work not previously exhibited in Athens, Rethymnon, or Chicago, which was recently undertaken by the project that underpins the exhibition, co-directed by Dr. Yannis Tzedakis and Dr. Holley Martlew. Further information is available from Robert Arnott, The Medical School, University of Birmingham, Birmingham B15 2TT, UK; telephone: 0121-414-6804 (voice mail); fax: 0121-414-4036; e-mail: R.G.Arnott@bham.ac.uk; website: <http://medweb.bham.ac.uk/histmed>. For information about the series of lectures and one-day conference organized by the Centre for the History of Medicine of the University of Birmingham Medical School in support of this exhibition, see infra, Future Lectures and Conferences.

Elizabeth French has kindly asked that the following note be published concerning her recent book which was listed in Nestor 29:4 (April 2002):

French, Elizabeth 2002. Mycenae: Agamemnon's Capital. The Site in its Setting. §020420
Gloucestershire: Tempus Publishing Ltd. ISBN 0-7524-1951-X.

This was reprinted in June and the opportunity was taken to make some factual corrections. Those who have copies of the original printing should note the following errors:

- p.37, 80: Grave Circle A contained the remains of nine women, eight men and one child.
 p.48: The tomb with Mycenaean pottery was found near (not in) the Teti pyramid at Sakhara.
 p.123, fig. 58: the large tablet should be on the left (and occur only once).
 p.124, fig. 59: the correct ratios for the units at the bottom of the chart are:
 10 T = 1 Dry Unit; 3 * = 1 Wet Unit
 Colour plate 20 is reversed; the warriors should carry their shields on their left arms.

Grants and Fellowships

On 23 October 2002 applications are due to the Master, Darwin College, Cambridge CB3 9EU for the Moses and Mary Finley Research Fellowship, made possible by a bequest in the Will of Sir Moses and Lady Finley. The Fellowship is restricted to research into the ancient history of the Mediterranean world and/or the Near East, down to the end of the 6th century AD, with preference for scholars whose interests coincide with those of the late Sir Moses Finley. Applicants must possess the PhD or an equivalent degree or be able to submit substantial amounts of written work (published or unpublished), and should be 35 years of age or less on 1 October 2003, with possible exception for persons over this age if they began their research at a significantly later age than usual or they have interrupted their careers for family or other reasons. The annual stipend will start at a minimum of £13,050, depending on age and experience; allowances for travel and research expenses (maximum £1000 annually), and for conference subsidies (maximum additional £500 annually) will be available. Applications (typed in SIX copies) must include (1) a curriculum vitae, (2) an account (1000 words maximum) of the proposed research, including any plans for fieldwork, stating the aims of the research and the background to it, (3) the names and addresses of two referees (including telephone and fax numbers and e-mail addresses), who should be asked to write at once direct to the college, and (4) a list of published or unpublished work that would be available for submission if requested. Short-listed candidates may be asked to make themselves available for interview at Darwin College in early January, with election as soon as possible thereafter. Further information about the duties of the Finley Research Fellow, stipends, and emoluments is available from Darwin College. The Fellowship will run for four years from 1 October 2003.

On 1 January 2003 applications are due for the Margo Tytus Visiting Scholars Program in the fields of archaeology, history, or philology at the University of Cincinnati, Classics Department, tenable during the academic year from 1 October 2003 through 31 May 2004. Tytus Fellows will ordinarily be at least five years beyond receipt of the PhD, and will come to Cincinnati to pursue their own research. The minimum and maximum terms for Long Term Fellows are one academic quarter (two and a half months) to one academic year; Short Term Fellows will reside in Cincinnati for one to two months. Both categories of Tytus Fellows will receive a monthly stipend of $1,000, a transportation allowance, and office space; housing is additionally provided for Long Term Fellows. Further information on the resources of the University of Cincinnati Burnam Classics Library and application forms are available from the Director, Margo Tytus Visiting Scholars Program, Department of Classics, University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, OH 45221-0226; e-mail: secretary@classics.uc.edu; or from the web-site at <http://classics.uc.edu/tytus>.

On 1 February 2003 applications are due for the Stuart Swiny and Helena Wilde Swiny Fellowship and the Anita Cecil O'Donovan Fellowship for 2003-2004. These two grants, each of $750, help fund a research period of three to six weeks at the Cyprus American Archaeological Research Institute (CAARI) in Nicosia, Cyprus for a graduate student of any nationality who is conducting research on the archaeology of Cyprus or a field relevant to Cypriot archaeology. Residence at CAARI is required. Applications must include a project statement, expected schedule of work, budget, curriculum vitae, and two letters of recommendation. Each CAARI applicant will be considered for both fellowships. Applications should be sent to CAARI at Boston University, 656 Beacon Street, Fifth Floor, Boston, MA 02215.

Call for Papers

On 1 February 2003 titles and abstracts (250 words) are due from interested contributors to an International Colloquium entitled Current Issues in State Formation: the Mediterranean and Beyond, to be held at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill on 17-19 October 2003; titles and abstracts should be sent to Donald Haggis (dchaggis@email.unc.edu), Nicola Terrenato (terrenat@email.unc.edu), or Robert Vander Poppen (rvander@email.unc.edu). Further information is available at <http://www.classics.unc.edu/wgems/>. The purpose of the colloquium is to assess the current state of research in the study of state formation, to bring together diverse practitioners and strands of the discourse on early state societies, and to encourage a broad discussion of methods, approaches, and case studies. At least three major sessions are planned: one concerning theories about early states going beyond simple evolutionism, one specifically presenting and discussing Mediterranean case-studies, and one on the contribution of environmental archaeology to the problem. Proposals for other sessions and individual papers are invited; individual contributions might include the following topics:

Results of excavations and surveys

Formal and functional definitions of the “state” (e.g., city-states, ethnos states, polis states, palace states, kingdom states, etc.)

Definitions of integration and complexity in analyses of state structure

Modeling the process of emergence and changing organizational structure

Effective scales of analysis of on-site, local, and regional patterns

Methods of analyzing patterns of site distribution and interaction

Definitions of “pre-state” society and the implications of pre-state structure for analyses of state formation

Kinship and social structure

Environmental context and patterns of land use on local and regional scales

Comparative perspectives

Ethnographic analogies and applications

Obituary

The editors of Nestor are saddened to report the death of Charles J. Vitaliano. His analyses of tephra from the Minoan eruption in Santorini, Greece, contributed to the investigation of ash distribution from that eruption and to the study of volcanic deposits which are relevant to the chronology of the Aegean Bronze Age. In addition to other publications on these subjects, he contributed to all three conferences on Thera and the Aegean World.
