From the Editors

The Editors of Nestor welcome readers back from their summer researches. We bid farewell to Assistant Editors Shannon LaFayette and Sarah Lima and thank them for their years of service.

Grants and Fellowships

On 15 October 2005 applications must be postmarked for the Samuel H. Kress Traveling Fellowship 2006-2007 for students (U.S. citizens or students studying at U.S. universities), whose doctoral dissertation research in architecture, art history, archaeology, or classical studies necessitates residency at the W.F. Albright Institute of Archaeological Research in Jerusalem (5 months) and either the American Center of Oriental Research in Amman, the Cyprus American Archaeological Research Institute in Nicosia, or the American School of Classical Studies at Athens (5 months): $18,500 for 10 months. Further information is available from Dr. Joan R. Branham, e-mail: jbranham@providence.edu Application forms are available at http://www.aiar.org. Applicants intending to use the American School of Classical Studies at Athens must submit a copy of their application to the School accompanied by a request for Associate Membership, c/o Albright Kress Traveling Fellowship, addressed to Prof. Stephen V. Tracy, Director of the School, American School of Classical Studies, 54 Souidias Street, 106 76 Athens, Greece; web-site: http://www.ascsa.edu.gr.

On 15 November 2005 applications must be postmarked for National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships for 2006-2007 to the American School of Classical Studies at Athens (ASCSA) for postdoctoral scholars and professionals in relevant fields, U.S. citizens or foreign nationals who have lived in the U.S. for the three years immediately preceding the application deadline: up to $40,000 for five to ten months in duration coinciding with the ASCSA’s academic year, September to June. Detailed information and applications are available from the American School of Classical Studies at Athens, 6-8 Charlton Street, Princeton, NJ 08540-5232; telephone: (609) 683-0800; fax: (609) 924-0578; e-mail: ascsa@ascsa.org; web-site: http://www.ascsa.edu.gr/.

Calls for Papers

On 15 October 2005 notices of interest in participation are due for a conference entitled Finds and Results from the Swedish Cyprus Expedition: A Gender Perspective, to be held at the Medelhavsmuseet in Stockholm, Sweden on 31 March - 2 April 2006. Scholars are invited to reconsider the material from the Swedish Cyprus Expedition, in conjunction with on-going planning for a new Cypriote exhibition, with finds from the Swedish Cyprus Expedition as its core; approaches of special interest are gender studies, multicultural aspects of Cyprus, and other social issues. Expressions of interest, including full name, organization, academic qualifications, current area of research and (if possible) abstract or subject/title of lecture, should be sent by e-mail to sofia.fischer@medelhavsmuseet.se (subject: Conference). Further information is available from Sofia Fischer, Project manager, Medelhavsmuseet, Museum of Mediterranean and Near Eastern Antiquities, Fredsgatan 2, PO Box 16008, 103 21 Stockholm, Sweden; telephone: +46-8-5195-5391; web-site: http://www.medelhavsmuseet.se.

On 30 November 2005 registration for posters is due for the 3rd International Sifnean Symposium, to be held on 29 June - 2 July 2006 on Sifnos island, Greece; on 8 February 2006 registration for papers is due. Fields of research will include Antiquity, Byzantium, the Frankish Period, Ottoman period, modern history, architecture, the natural environment and settlements, and folklore. Past Symposia presentations have been published in the Proceedings. Participation at the Symposium is free; the Symposium aims to cover travel expenses within Europe and the accommodation expenses on Sifnos for participants who make presentations. Further information in Greek and English is available from the Society of Sifnean Studies, 6 Vasili Tsitsani Street, 166 75 Glyfada, Greece; telephone: (0030) 210-89-40-662; fax (0030) 210-89-80-287.

On 1 December 2005 preliminary registration forms are due for an International Colloquium entitled Before Hippocrates: Health, Disease and Medicine in the Prehistoric Aegean, to be held at the University of Birmingham Medical School on 13-15 September 2007, sponsored by the University of Birmingham, the Society for Ancient Medicine, and the Holley Martlew Archaeological Foundation. The aims of the symposium are to examine the possible origins of Classical and Hellenistic healing cults and Hippocratic practices in earlier healing traditions and in a traditional body of knowledge, much of which may already have been known by the Late Bronze Age, as well as to expand the understanding of Minoan and Mycenaean health, disease and medicine and to build upon the advanced scientific work in the field of artefact analysis and the study of human skeletal remains that has been undertaken in the last ten years. This multi-disciplinary Colloquium aims to bring together archaeologists, Linear B scholars, medical historians, physical anthropologists, palaeopathologists, as well as other scientists working in the fields of nuclear aDNA, organic residue analysis, and stable isotope analysis, together with others who have a general interest. Sessions might include the following general themes:

- Disease Patterns and Health Status
- Religion, Cult, and Healing
- The Influence of Overseas Contacts
- Diet and Food
- Disease and Medicine in the Archaeological Record and Linear B
- Human Skeletal Remains
- Ancient Biomolecules
- The Mycenaean Origins of Greek Medicine
- Homeric Medicine – what was it?

Papers or posters covering other aspects of health status, disease, diet, medicine, and other areas covered by the general umbrella of “health” are also encouraged. The proceedings will be published. Preliminary registration forms and further information are available from the conference organiser Robert Arnott, Centre for the History of Medicine, The Medical School, University of Birmingham, Birmingham B15 2TT (UK), telephone: +44-(0)-121-414-6804; fax: +44-(0)-121-414-4036; e-mail: R.G.Arnott@bham.ac.uk.
On 1 December 2005 symposia proposals are due for Computer Applications and Quantitative Methods in Archaeology. Digital Discovery: Exploring New Frontiers in Human Heritage (CAA 2006), to be held in Fargo, ND on 18-21 April 2006 with the post conference tour on 22 April (possibly extended to 23 April.) On 2 January 2006 abstract submissions are due for papers, workshops, roundtable panels, and posters; the same date is the close of early registration. The abstract submission guidelines and forms, and further information are available at http://www.caa2006.org/.

Obituary

The editors of Nestor are saddened to report the death of Professor Elizabeth Milburn Schofield. Professor Schofield directed study and publication of the excavations at Ayia Irini, Kea, and participated in the study and publication of the site of Lefkandi, in addition to her own publications on these subjects and on the Cyclades in the early Late Bronze Age.

The editors of Nestor are saddened to report the death of Professor Manfred Korfmann. In addition to early field work at Demircihuyuk and Besiktepe in northwestern Turkey and recent investigations at Didigora and Udabno in Georgia, Professor Korfmann directed 18 seasons of excavations at Troy, with special emphasis on the lower city; he also founded the journal, Studia Troica, in which the results of his own and other research in the Troad have been published.
