Calls for Papers

On 30 November 2007 proposals (not to exceed the equivalent of one page, typewritten double-spaced) are due for a conference entitled Cross-Cultural Approaches to Family and Household Structures in the Ancient World, to be held at New York University on 9-10

May 2008, organized by the Institute for the Study of the Ancient World (ISAW). In order to initiate conversations between ancient historians, archaeologists, and social anthropologists of all regions and periods of the ancient world, the conference welcomes papers from across disciplines, especially comparative approaches and new methods of analysis or interpretation of documentary evidence. Papers (limited to a reading time of twenty minutes, to be followed by twenty minutes of discussion) are invited that shed new light on the formation patterns and structural differences and similarities between family and household in ancient societies from the western Mediterranean to China. Proposals should be sent with contact information to either Anna Boozer, Sabine Huebner, or Jinyu Liu at: ISAW - Institute for the Study of the Ancient World, 15 East 84th Street, New York, NY 10028; e-mail: isaw.household.conference@nyu.edu. Topics of interest include but are not limited to:

Cross-disciplinary definitions of households (beyond Hajnal's and Laslett's models of nuclear, extended and joint families)

Physical configurations of houses/households

Household formations: Ideals and Reality (e.g. the influence of demographic regimes, social class and economic forces)

Oeconomia: household as enterprise (labor recruitment, migration and the gendered division of labor)

Inter- and intragenerational conflict and support within the household (hierarchy, authority and rules of succession)
